

Buffalo Law Review

Volume 19 | Number 3

Article 1

4-1-1970

A Note from the Editor

Buffalo Law Review

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.law.buffalo.edu/buffalolawreview>

Recommended Citation

Buffalo Law Review, A Note from the Editor, 19 Buff. L. Rev. v (1970).

Available at: <https://digitalcommons.law.buffalo.edu/buffalolawreview/vol19/iss3/1>

This Editorial Note is brought to you for free and open access by the Law Journals at Digital Commons @ University at Buffalo School of Law. It has been accepted for inclusion in Buffalo Law Review by an authorized editor of Digital Commons @ University at Buffalo School of Law. For more information, please contact lawscholar@buffalo.edu.

A NOTE FROM THE EDITOR

IN marked contrast to the national trend, a large number of the Review's graduating editors are entering private practice immediately. Eight have accepted positions with firms in Milwaukee, New York, Pittsburgh, Rochester, and Buffalo, with the beginning salaries averaging $14,000. Two have accepted New York Appellate Division clerkships, one in Rochester and one in Albany; one editor will clerk in the Federal District Court, Western District of New York. Another will enter the Honors Program of the Justice Department. Three have decided to forsake the law and pursue accounting. Two remain undecided about professions. One editor will work toward an LL.M. immediately, and he will enroll at Columbia University.

